

26-27 September 2024

About DevOpsDays London

DevOpsDays London is a highly respected and well-attended conference for professionals in the DevOps industry. The event brings together thought leaders, practitioners, and industry experts to share their knowledge and experiences, exploring the latest trends and technologies in the field.

This year we expect 300-400 attendees.

The Benefits of Sponsoring

By sponsoring DevOpsDays London, your company will have the chance to position itself as a thought leader and innovator in the DevOps industry. This is a unique opportunity to gain valuable exposure and establish your brand as a trusted and respected player in the market.

Not only can you showcase your products and services to a highly targeted and engaged audience, but you'll also have the chance to participate in discussions and interactive sessions, and to network with attendees during the conference breaks.

This is a great opportunity to build relationships with key players in the DevOps community and to stay up to date on the latest trends and technologies in the field.

Frequently Asked Questions

1. When and where is the event?

DevOpsDays London will be held on 26th and 27th September 2024 at the QEII Centre in Westminster.

2. What are the payment options?

We can accept payments via bank transfer (preferred) or credit card. Sponsorship is not confirmed until payment is received, and as such, no sponsor benefits – such as the logo on the website – will be available until we have received the full payment.

3. When do I need to pay?

If the event is more than 30 days away, the payment terms are net 30 from the date mentioned on the invoice. If closer than that then immediate payment is required.

4. What are the behaviour expectations for sponsors?

Sponsors are expected to follow our Code of Conduct. Booths and advertising should not be sexualised. Activities that are disruptive to the event will not be tolerated.

5. How do I contact you about becoming a sponsor?

Fill in this form if you've already decided. Thank you!
If you have questions that are not answered here, please email sponsors@devopsdays.london.

6. What does the booth space include?

All booths come with power and 2 chairs. Conference WiFi is freely available to use. TV screen rental is available for an extra fee.

See the table on the first page for booth sizes.
Booth location is set by the organisers based on the venue layout.

7. Do we get badge scanners or contact info for attendees?

No. As a community-organised and attendee-driven conference, ensuring attendee privacy is important to get the quality of attendees and contributions we need. You are free to gather contact info via your sponsor table from those who wish to opt in. Our badges do not have barcodes on them.

8. Can we do giveaways or raffles?

Yes. Any raffle prize draws or giveaways will be done during afternoon breaks on both days. We will give you a short time slot for your giveaway activity. Just let us know.

9. Can we ship items to the venue?

Yes. Please note that it is your responsibility to remove all the material you came to the conference with by the close of the event or arrange collection in a timely manner.

10. What kind of swag should I bring?

It's up to you, but the organizers of DevOpsDays events prefer sustainable items. If you need ideas, please ask us.

Visit <https://devopsdays.org/events/2024-london> or email sponsors@devopsdays.london if you want further details of our sponsorship opportunities.

11. Are there any deals for sponsoring multiple DevOpsDays events?

No. All DevOpsDays events are run independently by local practitioners in that city. DevOpsDays is an umbrella brand we use to put on the events, but there is no fiscal relationship between individual events. Therefore, we don't have any ability to combine sales with other events.

12. What does my sponsor ticket let me access?

DevOpsDays London is a community event, and we consider our sponsors part of the community. As such we don't differentiate between sponsors and attendees. Your tickets allow you full access to participate in the event and we encourage sponsors to attend the talks and open spaces as this will allow you to better engage with attendees.

13. Do any of the sponsorship tiers include a speaking slot?

DevOpsDays events don't include paid-for speaking slots, only the one-minute audience address slots as part of the gold, platinum, and evening event sponsorships. You are welcome to submit to our CFP: submissions are assessed blindly, and we have had sponsors speak in the past by following this route.

14. How many people do you expect to attend?

We expect around 300 - 400 attendees this year. Our 2023 event had 398 attendees.

15. Who makes up the typical audience?

Our attendees tend to skew toward the more technical roles, with a lower number of managerial, product, and design people also attending. In the past we have had attendees from a variety of company sizes, including several large companies attending across both public and private sectors including Microsoft, Ministry of Justice, The Financial Times, Oracle, Pivotal, Skyscanner, The Trade Desk, NHS Digital, DAZN, Google, and Credit Suisse.

16. What opportunities are there to interact with attendees?

We're an intimate, community-focussed event with limited sponsor and attendee numbers. The sponsor hall is also where food is served and where attendees will be during breaks.

To encourage more interactions, we run a raffle for attendees: every attendee will receive a card to collect stamps from the sponsors. We will provide the stamps and prizes. While you can't exchange stamps for attendee details, this will provide you with a good opportunity to engage with attendees.

We encourage you to fully participate in the conference, attending talks and open spaces alongside the attendees you want to reach. You're even welcome to propose your own open space topics.
